TOWNE TALK

By RAS BERRY

They is a person in this here town who has been wrote up in this colyum pretty often and he (she) says to me the other night that the victims of this here colyum should ought to have a chance to come back at the writer of this colyum and so I says o. k. you can have the opportunity and so next week this here particular victim is gonna come back at me so you had all better get ready for a blast because he (she) is already busy writing things about me for next week.

Harry Dolley says to the bus mgr. is it true that your wife give you a pr. of spats for your birthday and you had em half soled and right quick the bus mgr. says no me and my wife ain't had no spats yet.

The bus mgr. has built a brick wall out from his house but no having been wedded only a few months he didn't save no bricks for domestic weapons.

Gee whiz even a dumb witted bozo comes through with a wise crack every once in a while like me when I come home the other night with a flock of magazines which included Life, Liberty and The American Mercury and I hands them to my boss with the words here they are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Crabbiness.

And so I had a good laff over that.

Ed Nelson he plays in a orchestra up town and says he don't hit so many bum notes up there nights as he does here days.

Buck Buxton he says if we didn't have banks so we could crack jokes about there working for everybody's interest and hitting bum notes why we would have to give up getting out this colyum.

Joe Cook and Freedland Dilley has took up golf serious and now they is two more wives in town who is complaining that their husbands play golf all Sunday mornings and sleep all Sunday afternoon.

I never knowed before what Dilley's first name was but I looked it up in the directory and it made me laff because I seen him up to the golf course and he sure freed land with them golf clubs of him. Please pass the chloroform.

Bill Nye down to the Columbia is also getting measured for a pr. of plus fours. He will make a pretty picture when he puts them on.

These here big city papers is getting worse and worse. Previous to of late most of the rot has been run on the divorce page but now it has creped onto the sport page which up to now has been the cleanest dept. of the big city papers. This a. m. I was reading a account of a mixed four-some golf game and what do you suppose that sport writer wrote? He wrote about one of the feminine contestants that she displayed flashes of form.

When Bill Nye gets them plus fours on he will display more than flashes of form. He will be just one perpetual flash of form.

Jim Fitzhugh says Scotchmen is taking to the sea again now that machinery and not sailors pay out the anchor.

They is a Jewish boy who is awarded a big excavating contract in Glasgow and the first day he starts excavating he tells reporters that workmen on the job unearthed several pieces of ancient gold coin and the next day 400 Scotchmen reported on the job with picks and shovels and it didn't cost nothing to do the excavating.

The other day in London under a sidewalk that was being dug up a workman found a old Roman coin and the London Times remarked that the discovery settled one historical question—they wasn't no Scotchmen in Caesar's army.

Chevrolet Stage Big Show for Sales Force

Local Dealer and Associates Enjoy Fun and Get the "Dope"

Accompanied by three members of his sales and service organization, J. S. Hanson, local Chevrolet dealer, attended the big Chevrolet sales convention held in Los Angeles on Monday afternoon at the Philharmonic Auditorium. More than five hundred members of the Chevrolet sales forces from all over Southern California were present at the meeting, which was presided over by H. J. Klingler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company. The afternoon session was followed by a banquet at the Ambassador hotel in the evening, where an elaborate programme of entertainment was enjoyed.

Monday's meeting was one of a series annually held by the Chevrolet organization, and which this year reached by a banquet in a total of thirty-six of the principal cities of the United States. The tremendous sales plans of Chevrolet for 1928 was discussed, as well as every phase of sales, service, advertising and management of a retail automobile business, by experts from the Chevrolet central office in Detroit.

Accompanying Mr. Klingler and taking active part in the afternoon and evening meetings, were E. W. Fuhr, Pacific Coast regional manager for Chevrolet; R. K. White, sales promotion manager; J. P. Little, parts and service manager; Sidney Corbett, manager of fleet sales division and W. A. Bles, manager of dealers finance.

So complete and elaborate was the setting for the Monday meeting that more scenery, equipment and stage property was required than that generally used by the largest theatrical productions. More than a carload of drops, curtains and special fixtures are used in the presentation of the Chevrolet sales programme in every city visited. A stage manager and specially trained show crew direct the work behind the footlights.

These meetings are designed to provide the Chevrolet dealer with the most complete information about the Chevrolet car—how to sell it, service it and generally operate a retail business with profit to himself and the public. Through these sessions the individual dealer has the opportunity of personally discussing with Chevrolet officials problems concerning his particular business.
